PROJECT: GEOGRAPHY OF THE ANCIENT ROMAN EMPIRE

The great Roman Emperor has decided that now is the time to create a new map of the empire. Accordingly, the Emperor has chosen you, the official Imperial Cartographer, to produce this map. The Emperor has directed you to produce the map in as creative a manner as possible. He has suggested, for example, that your map may be constructed of materials such as:

- I. clay
- II. fabric (for example felt)
- III. foods
- IV. poster board
- V. papier mache
- VI. any other interesting material that you can think of: BE CREATIVE!

The Roman Emperor also requires that you label each of his provinces in LATIN. He of course knows not a word of English, so no English will be allowed at all on your map!

The fabulous and omniscient Roman Emperor hereby decrees that you may work in Imperial Cartography Teams of not more than 3 individuals in order to complete your map.

The great and powerful Roman Emperor will grade your map on the following criteria:

- I. accuracy – 25%
- II. completeness – 25%
- III. neatness – 20%
- IV. creativity – 30%

The magnificent and handsome Roman Emperor has proclaimed that your map will be due on _____.
